

Get The Daily Star delivered FREE for 6 weeks

Showbiz

Controversial snapper who shows 'stars' in saucy situations seeks a Meghan Markle

OUTRAGEOUS PHOTOGRAPHER Alison Jackson is bringing her amazing celebrity lookalike photos to the live stage. [WARNING: sexual content]

SHARE

By Michael Moran Audience Writer

11:30, 1 MAR 2019 | UPDATED 09:33, 2 MAR 2019

SHOWBIZ

Advertisement

The award-winning artist has assembled a team of incredible lookalikes to help her put celebrities and world leaders in saucy situations. – but she's got a problem.

The centrepiece of her show, the £15,000 'combover' wig her Donald Trump double wears has left in a taxi.

Styled to look like the US president's unique hairsdo, the one-of-a-kind syrup took 15 stylists more than six months to create and is a major feature of Alison's show opening at London's Leicester Square Theatre next week.

Alison has offered a reward for its return. And she's also still looking for more celebrity lookalikes for her salacious snaps. Could you be her next Kim Kardashian? or Prince Harry?

She's particularly looking for a Meghan Markle!