

M TV TV News Sitcoms

Friends: 'Cast reunites' as Jennifer Aniston, Courteney Cox, Matt Le Blanc and more lookalikes dupe fans in London

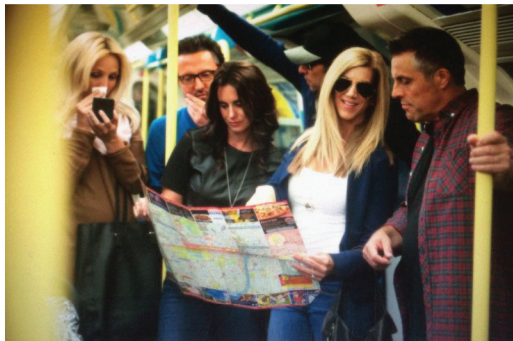

Photographer Alison Jackson has brought about memories from the characters' trip across the pond to celebrate sitcom's 20th anniversary

SHARE f t d i

By Tufayel Ahmed

14:20, 8 SEP 2014 UPDATED 10:50, 18 SEP 2014

TV

Is that...? And her, there, is that...?

The stars of Friends have reunited once again in London to mark the 20th anniversary of the hit sitcom – well, kind of.

You'd be forgiven if you thought you saw Jennifer Aniston and company riding around the capital on Boris bikes recently, because the sight of these lookalikes is sure to turn heads.

Photographer Alison Jackson – famed for her celebrity and royal mock-up shots – is it at again, this time snapping a gang of Friends imposters in and around London.

The group duped unwitting fans of the classic series as they hopped on the London Underground and enjoyed a boat ride.

They were even 'papped' at an airport terminal, further giving the illusion that they were indeed the real stars of Friends.

Twenty years on the show is obviously still a huge draw with a fan base of all ages'

Jennifer's likeness leads the pack with a very convincing Rachel haircut and half a dozen suitcases in tow. Well, if you're going to play the part you may as well go all out!

Alison commented: "Working with our 'Friends cast' caused something of a sensation amongst passersby, a crowd gathered as we were shooting and some people even came up to ask for autographs.

"Twenty years on the show is obviously still a huge draw with a fan base of all ages."

Comedy Central is celebrating the 20th anniversary of Friends

VIEW GALLERY

The full cast 'reunion' comes just weeks after the female Friends cast – Jennifer, Courteney Cox and Lisa Kudrow – surprised fans with a mini-reunion on Jimmy Kimmel Live last month.

The girls appeared in a skit with the talk show host on a specially constructed set recreating Monica's famous apartment.

Friends is celebrating its 20th anniversary with episodes airing daily at 5pm on Comedy Central.

Like this? Did you know we have a dedicated TV and Film page on Facebook?